I. The Good Times Country's where we'll go. Can't miss it anywhere; The folks are gettin' over ground. An' music's in the air. They're never in the lonesome place; They look the mornin' in the face.

II. The Good Times Country's where we'll go. From all the storm an' strife; The sunshine citizen's we'll know. An' fall in love with life. We'll greet 'em in the joyous place. And look God's mornin' in the face.

THREE ISLANDS FOR $5,000,000

IN purchasing territory close to home the United States has always had good luck. Therefore it might be good business to take advantage of a tentative offer by the Danish government to sell us three Danish islands in the West Indies. They are the islands of St. Thoms, St. Croix and St. John.

Once before the matter of purchasing these islands was up. It was in 1902 when John Hay was secretary of state, though previous to that time in 1865 Secretary Seward advised the acquisition of the islands. In 1902 Denmark offered to sell this territory to the United States for $5,000,000 but the transaction was blocked through the fact the upper house in the Danish parliament refused to ratify the transaction.

There is now a report to the effect that labor trouble on the islands has caused the Danes considerable bother with the result tentative offers have been made to dispose of the possessions at the same price named in 1902.

One reason it would be advisable for the United States to own or control these islands is the fact they are on the route to the Panama canal and we desire to have control of the sea approaches to the big waterway.

It is good strategy for this country to own or protect islands anywhere near our coast. The ownership of the faraway Philippines is poor strategy because of the difficulty of defending them.

MONEY IN NATIONAL CONVENTIONS

ST. LOUIS is much more virtuous than Chicago in the matter of financing a national political convention, judging from the following from a St. Louis paper:

"Those who subscribed a certain minimum to the fund for the democratic national convention, say $40 or $50 each, will receive an acknowledgment in an assignment of convention tickets for their personal use. Such a courtesy is in accordance with custom. Chicago, however, will place a large amount of convention tickets on public sale at from $50 to $200 or more a ticket. Chicago expects in this way to recoup the entire amount of its guarantee fund, but why should it stop with so modest an amount?"

"Why should not the convention, conducted as an amusement enterprise, be managed so as to yield a handsome profit? If Chicago is going to commercialize these great president-making bodies, why not commercialize them thoroughly?"

With seats selling at from $50 to $200 each the advice to Chicago to "commercialize thoroughly" seems a bit superfluous. Nor is it probable St. Louis needs any coaching up on the same subject.

ON A SOLID BASIS

THERE is no reason to fear industrial depression in the United States after the war in Europe ends, in the opinion of Secretary Redfield, of the department of commerce. In reply to a suggestion from Assistant Secretary Malburn, of the treasury department, that the American people are in danger of overlooking preparedness for peace Secretary Redfield points out that the country's so-called war business probably does not exceed five per cent of its total industrial and commercial activity, and while readjustments after the war will be necessary and perhaps serious, the relative importance of the war business is generally overestimated.

It does not exceed a quarter of our exports, says the secretary, and possibly is not quite that much. Our shipments to South America, for example, have at least doubled. New industrial organization for making war material is relatively small, and moreover much of it will be available for use when peace comes. This will be especially true, says the secretary, if our own preparedness takes a more substantial form. Industrial preparedness is going on all the time, the secretary concludes, and will be aided by legislation recommended by governmental agencies.

For some time past the Shasta Limited train has been carrying day coaches between Portland and Seattle, the volume of through business not being sufficient for the train. It is now announced, however, that the demand for first-class accommodations has become so great that the chair cars will be dropped June 1. It is evidence of increasing prosperity along the coast and we are not manufacturing war supplies out here either.

This is the day when the candidate ascertains the results of his efforts and the truthfulness of those who have promised to vote for him.

Safe Home Remedy for Skin-Troubles

Eczema, ringworm, and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need never hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is the Resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful, that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for over twenty years.

Generally Resinol stops itching at once, and heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and Resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.

Resinol Soap is not only unusually cleansing and softening, but its regular use gives to the skin and hair that natural beauty of perfect health which cosmetics can only imitate.
